WEB FEATURE: 2010 Football Preview

Terrell Chestnut leads a very talented group of local players that hope to lead their teams to high expectations for the 2010 football season. The future Pitt Panther heads a very formidable class this season, led by fellow Falcons Kayvon Greene and Maika Polamalu. Unsung heroes, Danny Faust and TJ Demetrio also bring much to the table. Remember these names for the future: Curan Wilson, Mike Burns, and Madison O'Conner.

Ryan Brumfield needs no introduction. This senior running back is on pace to destroy every rushing/scoring record around. He is going to go down, statistically, as the best RB ever to come out of the Pottstown area, and maybe even the state! He is not alone talented in Bucktown, as names like Funk, Nowak, Moore, Blevins, and Moloney certainly are of All-league caliber.

Dylan Pasik heads the talent out of the Boyertown area. Watch monsters Chris Mueller and Jake Semple. Sleepers Jared Von Dohren, Jon Neiman (Not another Neiman!), Brook David. My guy is Tyler Mauger!

Stud Brandon Clark is at the top of the Methacton class. He helps 1st year coach Paul Lepre bring a much needed toughness to the Warriors. Elliot Reisz plays well when healthy, and watch Soph QB Brandon Bossard.

Chris Stewart and Lou Fioravanti give Scott Reed the size and athletic ability to compete inside. Watch sneaky WR Ben Carbutt, but my guy is Kyle Williams.

Marcus Stokes lead the way for the Phantoms, but they will need a full season out of Romano to stay competitive. Watch Travis Andrews and Vinnie Nattle.

Mike Santillo is still trying to get everyone's name correct as Pope John Paul starts its first season. Jake Gribb, Tom Rodgers, and John Cherneski are good names, but my guy is Conner Myers.

Underrated Marc Smith leads the Trojans this season. Talented, but oft-injured Malik Brinkley is one of the most exciting RBs in the league. He and Smith give Brett Myers an awesome one-two punch. Steady QB Jeff Endy is the true leader of the club. Watch Corey Heuber and Dawon Matthews.

Chase Stewart, the Ullmann Brothers (sounds like a rock band), James Hoff, and Andrew Scanlan head the Ram contingent. Watch speedster Drew Thomas and Soph QB Hank Coyne. My guy is 2009 All-MMQB Matt Glowacki.

Talented QB Casey Perlstein leads the Indians this season. Vets Mike Paul, Jake Nyce, and Nate Pompei fill in very nicely for Keith Leamer. Watch out...another Fleming (Dalton)! My guy is Ronnie "Get the ball in my Hands" Gillespie!
